

REFLECTIONS ON LOVE

By Penny Calcina

Ahhh, the month of LOVE has arrived; what month could cause so much joy and so much pain for so many? I propose to you to make this month a profound one of more joy, more love, than you've ever experienced. How? By reflecting on the Highest Love, the Love of the Creator. If we look at the Pure Love, who do we really see? Our Self.

Write a poem, sing a song, dance a dance to Creation. Celebrate the Highest Love, the love offered by the Creator. And in doing so, allow yourself to find that Pure Love in each of your own beautiful reflections in the mirror. Thank Creation for the beauty that is You, the love that is You. Then go ahead and write that poem or dance that dance to your Self. Fall in love with your Self, for the first time or as a renewal to Who You Are.

Do I mean self-obsessed, ego-based love? Of course not. Love from the highest point recognizes You as Creator and thereby all of Creation as individual aspects of this same love. Yet so often, we want to share love with others and receive their love, without first really knowing and loving our own True Self.

What love do we have to share when we have yet to accept ourselves as this Pure Love in physical manifestation? What love can we really receive from others when we have yet to realize our own fullness of this Love? I would say to you, as I do to myself, truly realize how full your cup is from you, being Creator, being you, and then will you truly know Love.

This year, why not give yourself a gift that not only fulfills your heart, but the bounty of it flows over to each person you meet? Know yourself as Love, then reflect that out into and receive it abundantly from your world.

Penny Calcina

www.earthstarradiance.com

No part may be reproduced without permission of the author.